THE following Addreſs of the Mayor, Sheriffs and Commonalty of the City of Corke, and of the Merchants, Traders, and other Inhabitants thereof, having been tranſmitted by his Excellency the Marqueſs of Hartington, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, to the Right Honourable Sir Thomas Robinſon, one of His Majeſty's Principal Secretaries of State, has been by him preſented to His Majeſty: Which Addreſs His Majeſty was pleaſed to receive very graciouſly.

To the King's moſt Excellent Majeſty,

The humble Addreſs of the Mayor, Sheriffs and Commonalty of the City of Corke, and of the Merchants, Traders, and other Inhabitants thereof.

Moſt Gracious Sovereign,

WE your Majeſty's moſt dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Mayor, Sheriffs and Commonalty of the City of Corke, and the Merchants, Traders, and other Inhabitants thereof, moſt humbly beg Leave to congratulate your Majeſty on your ſafe and happy Return to your Britiſh Dominions.

Moſt juſtly ſhould we reproach ourſelves, did we not take every Opportunity of expreſſing our ſincere Gratitude for your Majeſty's unwearied Vigilance in Protecting and Extending the Trade and Commerce of your People, and in Securing their True Intereſts and Liberties.

As we are fully convinced, that Peace and Tranquillity in theſe Kingdoms are the Conſequences of your Majeſty's glorious Adminiſtration; ſo are we truly ſenſible, that by the vigorous Meaſures taken by your Majeſty, the ſame will again take Place in your Majeſty's American Colonies, and the Rights and Poſſeſſions of the Britiſh Empire be effectually maintained; to the Support and Defence of which, and of your Majeſty's Sacred Perſon and Illuſtrious Houſe, we ſhall moſt chearfully devote our Lives and Fortunes on every Occaſion.
